"The expected happened in the re-election of O. K. Hollister principal of Goddard seminary for another year at a special meeting of the board of trustees last week in Barre. Mr. Hollister is not only an experienced and successful educator, but a man who is popular among the pupils and manages things with skill—a rare combination that is well worth while in such a splendid and growing institution as Goddard seminary."—Northfield News.

The Presbyterian church fair will open to-night with an entertainment by the Claretta Gordini minstrels. Many articles, both useful and ornamental, will be on sale. Don't fail to visit the booth which is being conducted by the managers of the church; here you will find many articles suitable for Christmas presents. And above all things, don't forget to bring the children. The fish pond will be a source of never-ending delight to them, as there is an abundance of toys to be had there. The various organizations of the church have left nothing undone to make this fair an unqualified success, and it only requires the hearty co-operation of the congregation and their friends to bring about the desired result.

Christmas Giving

Each year the matter of making gifts at Christmas is one that appeals to every man, woman and child.

Each year people endeavor to give more practical gifts, something that is needed and something that will be a permanent remembrance. Each year the Hardware and House-furnishing Store is becoming a more popular place for Christmas shopping as they supply articles of necessity and quality.

We have made greater preparations for Christmas this year than ever before and we invite you to come in at once and make an inspection.

There are only eight more working days before Christmas and we ask you to come in at once and have your articles laid out.

In this space during the next few days we will suggest some of the many useful presents that you can buy at this store.
